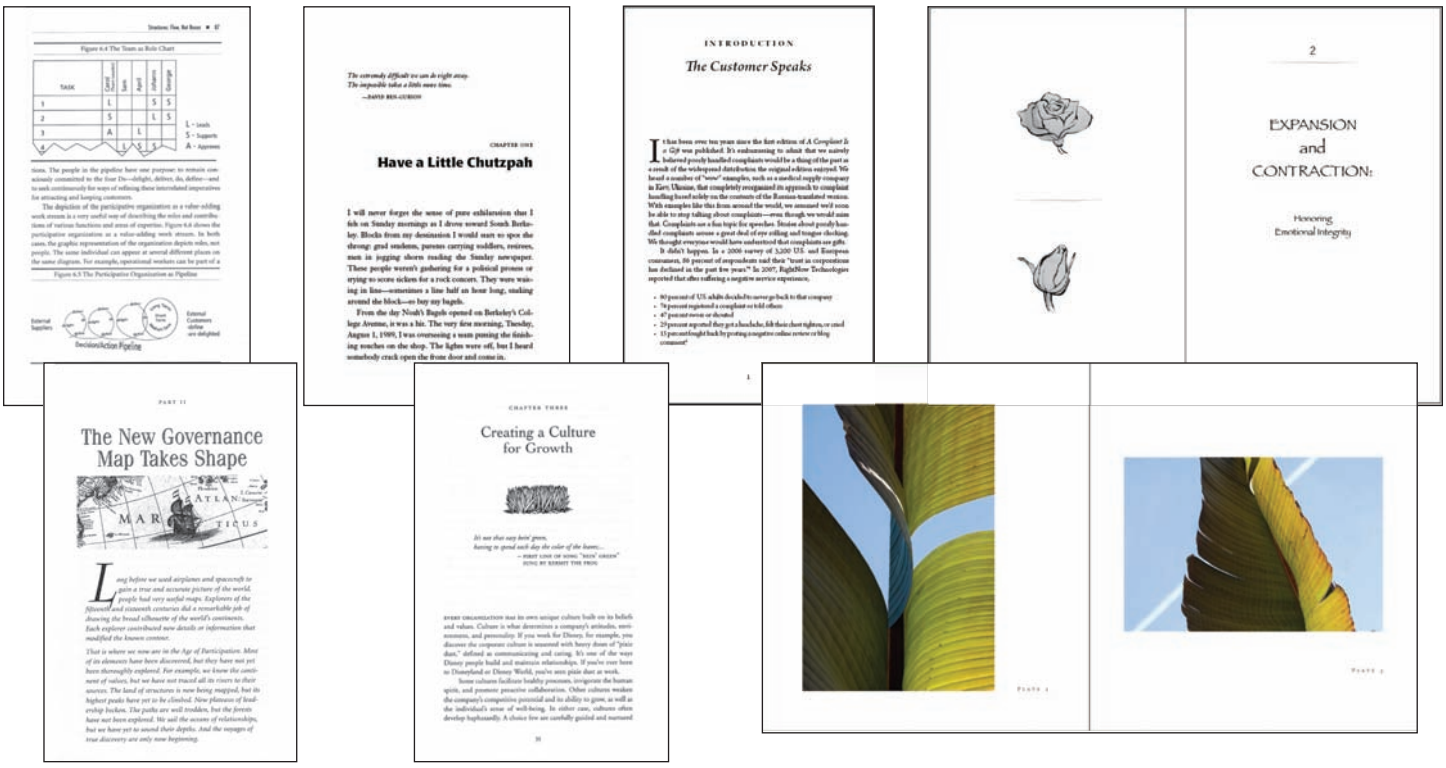
Authors and publishers deserve the highest quality, most effective typographic designs for their books.



Joel Friedlander has an extensive background in typography, book design and production.

He was the founder of Renaissance Press, where he combined hand typesetting and letterpress printing with full-color fine art reproduction.

He was production director for Aperture Books and later the publisher of Globe Press Books. He has received numerous awards, including the Printing Industries of America Gold Medal and the "50 Books of the Year" award from AIGA.

At Marin Bookworks Joel helps publishers of all sizes bring their vision to the marketplace with effective and stylish typographic design, working within a team of skilled and dedicated publishing professionals.
